Diabetes Awareness Month

The Stigma and truth behind diabetes

What comes to mind when you think about Diabetes?

If it's negative, you're not alone and that's exactly why we need to change the conversation.

Diabetes stigma is real and it's harmful.

It's fueled by misunderstanding and judgements that negatively impact those living with diabetes.

The truth is that diabetes is a complex, 24/7 condition that impacts every part of a person's life. Physically, emotionally and financially. It's relentless and requires resilience to manage it every day.

This Diabetes Awareness Month, help stop the stigma and learn the truth.

Understanding diabetes stigma

In 2023 we launched a first-of-its-kind national study to better understand how stigma, judgement and discrimination impact those living with type 1 (T1D) and type 2 diabetes (T2D). We learn that people living with diabetes often experience stigma and misunderstanding that make it harder to get the empathy and support they need. This stigma persists among Canadians. Our new national survey revealed that:

- 48% of Canadians believe that diabetes is caused by consuming too much sugar.
- 61% of Canadians cite lifestyle choices, poor diet or obesity/overweight when asked what causes people to develop diabetes.
- More than half of Canadians believe diabetes impacts a person's ability to do certain jobs.

Misunderstanding fuels stigma, but knowledge can change that. Learn more about what Canadians believe about living with diabetes.

The truth about diabetes

- ✓ Diabetes is not caused by eating too much sugar
- ✓ People don't "Give themselves" diabetes
- ✓ The causes of diabetes are complex, including genes, family history, ethnic background, environmental and lifestyle factors.
- ✓ Diabetes can lead to serious complications, such as stroke, heart attack or vision loss.
- ✓ There are no "days off" for managing diabetes

We need to promote understanding, empathy and support for those living with this complex and relentless condition. You've already taken an important first step by reading this for a little more understanding about diabetes stigma and facts. Together, we can reimagine diabetes

The importance of making your appointments and keeping them

The relationship between you and your Health Care professional is crucial for the success of your treatment and overall wellness. Making and Keeping appointments reflects your respect for others and shows that you value their time. Consistently attending scheduled sessions lay the groundwork for the essential, and sometimes challenging, work involved in your treatment.

If you need to cancel an appointment, please inform us as soon as possible by calling 604-465-8921. This allows us to offer your time slot to another person in need.

We must be considerate of our practitioners' schedules and their time in the community. If missed appointments become a regular issue, we will need to discuss the situation further, as we incur costs for the service even if you do not attend.
